New Central London Showroom for Moroso and Flos

Italian furnishing designing firm, Moroso joined hands with specialty lighting designer Flos, in last week of October 2009 to open its new furnishings/ lighting showroom at Rosebery Avenue, London

On the opening of this synergizing outlet, around six hundred guests has experienced more than 500 square meters retail space designed by Patricia Urquiola with the support of London's Mackay & Partners. She has created a setting that would express the diversity of their products as well as the place of interaction.
